Pequannock, NJ -- The township council is scheduled to discuss the proposed ban on self-service displays of tobacco products at a meeting on 11/12. The issue has been revived after last year's debate and final passage of a tobacco retailing ordinance. The council is considering this as an amendment to the ordinance. This will be a public hearing on the issue. Elizabeth Gallagher requests phone calls to retailers to urge their attendance and opposition at the meeting.

a holding an informational meeting on 10/15. The meeting is supposed to be only for retailers and restaurant owners to answer questions that the business owners have had about the proposal. A public hearing is still planned for 12/12 to discuss the proposed bans on self-service displays and smoking in restaurants. Bob Stone requests that we notify retailers and restaurant owners to attend the meeting and oppose the bans.
